(Kuh-TARE-ee Tek-a-QUEETH-a)

Keep this story for the next 3 weeks to complete the activities in this fun pack!

Saint Kateri Tekakwitha was born in 1656 in Ossernenon (today Auriesville, New York). Her father was a Mohawk Chief. Her parents died from smallpox, and Kateri herself caught smallpox but survived. The smallpox left her almost blind and with scars all over her face. She was raised by her aunt and uncle after her parents passed away.

When she was 10 years old, Kateri's village was visited by missionaries who introduced her to Christianity. Kateri was baptized when she was 20 years old. Some of Mohawks in her village opposed her conversion, so she left her tribe and went to St. Francis Xavier Mission, a Christian Mohawk village in Kahnawake, Quebec.

A year after her baptism, Kateri received her First Communion on Christmas Day in 1677. She spent her life in prayer, teaching children, and caring for the elderly and sick. She was also known for living a life of chastity.

On April 17, 1680, just before her 24th birthday, Kateri died from tuberculosis and was buried at St. Francis Xavier Mission. Her last words were: "Jesos Konoronkwa" (Jesus I love you). Right after her death, it is said that Kateri's smallpox scars disappeared from her face and she radiated with beauty.

Kateri Tekakwitha was beatified by Pope John Paul II on June 22, 1980 and canonized as a saint on October 21, 2012 by Pope Benedict XVI. Her Feast day is July 14. She is the patron saint of ecology, the environment, and Native Americans. Saint Kateri Tekakwitha is the first Native American saint.
